Jacaranda is all about you and your year at Avondale. It includes the extra special occasions which made this year so memorable but, even more importantly, it portrays the day to day experiences and people that make Avondale such a significant part of our lives.

We want you to cherish Jacaranda '95 as you would a scrapbook full of friends' pictures, cards and other treasured bits and pieces; or a diary filled with comments, invitations, announcements and notes....

We hope you enjoy Jacaranda '95 and value it as a tangible book of memories which will remain forever important to you.

All the best for the future,

Jac Team '95

Dear Jacaranda Team

You have asked for the Principal's impression of a college year. That's not easy because there are so many aspects to the college.

There is the week-to-week program: Sabbaths, weekdays, committees, chapels and vespers.

There are semester-by-semester and annual events: registration, Week of Prayer, exams, practice teaching, Week of Devotion, Homecoming, the arrival of Jacaranda, exams again and Graduation. There is the appointment of Graduation Class officers, and the nomination of student leaders.

There are spontaneous happenings; discussions with the students after a committee meeting or during a meal in the caf, a Sabbath lunch off campus with a department and its students, or meeting with a delegation of students about car-parking on campus.

Then there are the projects which vary from year to year; the restoration of a building, the introduction of a new course, the appointment of new staff or the updating of marketing strategies.

There are also mountains of routine activity: reports for the Church and Government; the recording of grades; the processing of budgets and the collection of fees; letters to be answered and committees to report to; and people to see with their requests, their complaints and their advice.

And I could go on ... and on, but the lasting impression I have of each College year is the development of students. When I look at the responsibilities assumed and the contributions made by so many of our graduates, and remember back to their arrival as students, I am convinced that a College year is a very worthwhile experience.

Yours sincerely,

Geoffrey Madigan
Principal

Dedication

Dr. Robyn Priestley

And God created Woman, in the line of which came Robyn. And Robyn, being full of grace and wisdom, and deemed to be non-threatening, was called to Avondale College. And Robyn became a lecturer, and achieved greatness in her field, bringing understanding and enlightenment to all her students, inspiration and joy to all her colleagues. So that those who work with Robyn are moved to ask: 'Lord, why did You not create more Women of this kind?'.

Dr. Don Hansen

For your constant support and encouragement; your kindness and consideration; your unselfish commitment and your faith in us.

We dedicate Jacaranda 1995 to you.

Impressions

AVONDALE: It's about quiet jokes during lectures, not - so - quiet events in the Audo, special notes of encouragement received when you need them most, the exhilarating freedom of finishing the last exam of the semester, the deep and meaningfuls with mates, meals together as one big family, practising song services in the shower, cracks of light under doors at 2 am.... you are not alone at any time of the night or day around here!!!

7:30am classes have given us something to complain about for, well, longer than I care to remember. We asked some new-comers what they thought of the concept:

'Great, because the teacher isn't awake either'
- Beck Patrick

'I think that they are alright when you get used to them. Gets you up early to enjoy the new day.'
- B everly Bishop

'I don't know, I never went to mine.'

Spiritual

Basic to the Avondale College philosophy of education is the Christian belief in a creator God who seeks to establish a satisfying and redemptive relationship with all people.
As Christians we believe that God is the source of truth, that there is a purpose in existence and an eternal dimension beyond the temporal. Education in this context encompasses the development of the whole human being and the restoration of the image of God in His creation.

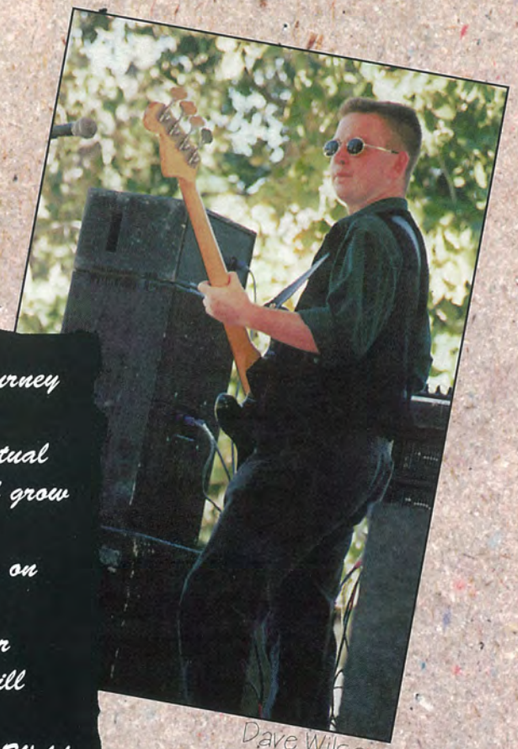
Sabbath Morning Live — Nicole



Dave Wilson

The christian life is like a journey, and like any journey there is a lot to learn and unlearn along the way. Avondale not only provides students with an intellectual environment, but also the opportunity to develop and grow in their own spiritual journey.
The common thing which unites so many individuals on their life journey is the belief in the life, death and resurrection of Jesus. It is because of Jesus that our journey begins, grows and develops. The journey will never end, it only always has a begining.

Life's tough for a first year..

Mr Ed.

4 November 1995

... as I look around me I'm so proud of the people taking part in the program today. As a young person in the Church it is encouraging to join with so many peers in presenting a service which, we hope, will bring this congregation a glimpse of our enthusiasm for Christ.

We were a timid group when we arrived. Sure we had the extroverts, and loved them for their sheer energy, but in general we were probably a typical bunch of uncertain first years.

...but look at us now. We've probably all grown in confidence during the time we've spent here... and now there's a new group finding their niche and making their mark. I wonder what the future will hold for each of us?

"In a world where values and priorities are confused, where 'things' always seem more valuable than 'people,' where 'I' am always more important than 'you,' and where religion is more about 'institutions' than 'relationships,' God's call to friendship is a welcome gift. It is a gift worth opening and enjoying, a fellowship that reorientates priorities and values to reflect the reality of God's personal love."

After interviewing various sources, the following advice has been compiled as a survival guide for the month of May at Avondale College:

* pray for divine intervention
* procastinate
* sleep
* eat chocolate
* play sport
* beg for extensions, if this doesn't work, cry
* if all else fails and you get to the end of your tether, tie a knot and hang on.

Recreation

The sport and recreation program plays an integral role in the Avondale experience. Perhaps for some it takes precedence over the academic aspect of campus life.
The sport and recreational pursuits offered at Avondale provide students and staff with the opportunity to take time out, have fun and socialise with friends. These are the memories that we take with us.
Its a beautiful thing.

Perpectives

First Year: I'm glad I'm here - I think! I feel as though I've met more people in the last 2 weeks than I have in my life!

Second Year: I wish I could remember what the real world was like. Avondale is the pits at the moment. I want to leave - I'm tired of people, deadlines and stress. I probably need more exercise!!!

Third Year: I'm so busy this year, but it helps knowing the end is around the corner, It's scary but this place is beginning to seem like home and i hate to think of life without the people I've met here.

Fourth Year: It's a strange but exhilerating feeling realising the end is in sight. It's a combination of remorse about being separated from so many wonderful friends and excitement over the prospect of a new beginning.

Much Ado

When one is an active participant, College – with classes, tutorials, exams and sporting events – seems an impossible place to find a peace, happiness and purpose. However this year College has become to many of us more of a home than the towns and cities we left to come here. It has become a place to feel comfortable and at ease and our dormmates and classmates are our family.

My first memories of College are somewhat less than comfortable however. Having come from the lofty position of Senior High School Student on friendly terms with my teachers and enjoying the awed respect of the younger students the prospect of returning to the position of 'first year' wasn't a pleasant thought. I well remember registration day and the days of nervousness before it. My new room looked so bare and I didn't recognise many faces and I couldn't tell who were lecturers and who were students. (I felt I needed to be a mature philosophical student to fit into the tertiary system) Were the deans nice? What on earth was a chaff? And who was this 'Bruce' that everybody was talking about?

Fortunately College is far less daunting than I envisioned. I met most of the faces and was almost glad that I did. I met the lecturers and realised that they were not unparalleled godlike intellectuals but rather friendly and untainted by their scholarly successes. Our waking hours were not filled with unhappiness, but rather life and laughter. From the 7:30 classes, sleeping through Communication & Literature, starving through Pedagogy, rushing to eat before "The Bold and the Beautiful," to the rush of tea, worship, basketball and talking in the dorm halls until we finally drop into bed to do it all over again tomorrow.

Yes, those warnings about College and its inhabitants were unwarranted. All of us have gained a lot by coming here; many friends, a few kilograms, the ability to sign other people's names off on the class roll but most importantly memories and experiences that are building us into people we will be tomorrow.

Lynette Roberts
(1st Year Student)

"You'll learn more about a road by travelling it than consulting all the maps in the world."

College is one of these roads. It has led me down a long road far away from my family. This experience has instilled in me an appreciation for my family, home, and the 'Outback'. The bush-walks around College have given me peace and calm assurance which has been a refuge when I feel like College life is crowding in on me. It has also stopped me from becoming complacent in my Christian experience by rolling along with the worship programs. Instead, it has made me actively involved in my search for a meaning to worship God. My friends have challenged my ideas and I believe that in many ways they have contributed to my tolerance of others' opinions and behaviours. But perhaps more importantly they have taught me to love and accept them for who they are. Also College has given me a person to walk with whom I can relate to and who is willing to walk with me in the unknown future.

From an educational perpective, College has provided an education that cannot be summarised by a piece of paper. Instead it has challenged me to become a better person, and for me, what I am becoming is more important than what I am accomplishing. The History, English and other studies have given me different perspectives of life, enabling me to analyse human behaviour.

The daily routine of College is a combination of eating, sleeping, studying, talking and playing. Bruce has tried my willpower in the Caf by tempting me with desserts and ice cream every day; lecturers have tried to keep me from my sleep; and friends have kept me from studying, encouraged me in talking and convinced me that there has to be a balance between work and play.

Overall Avondale has made me realise that we are a little microcosm of society and that the old cliche applies - you only get out of College what you're willing to put in.

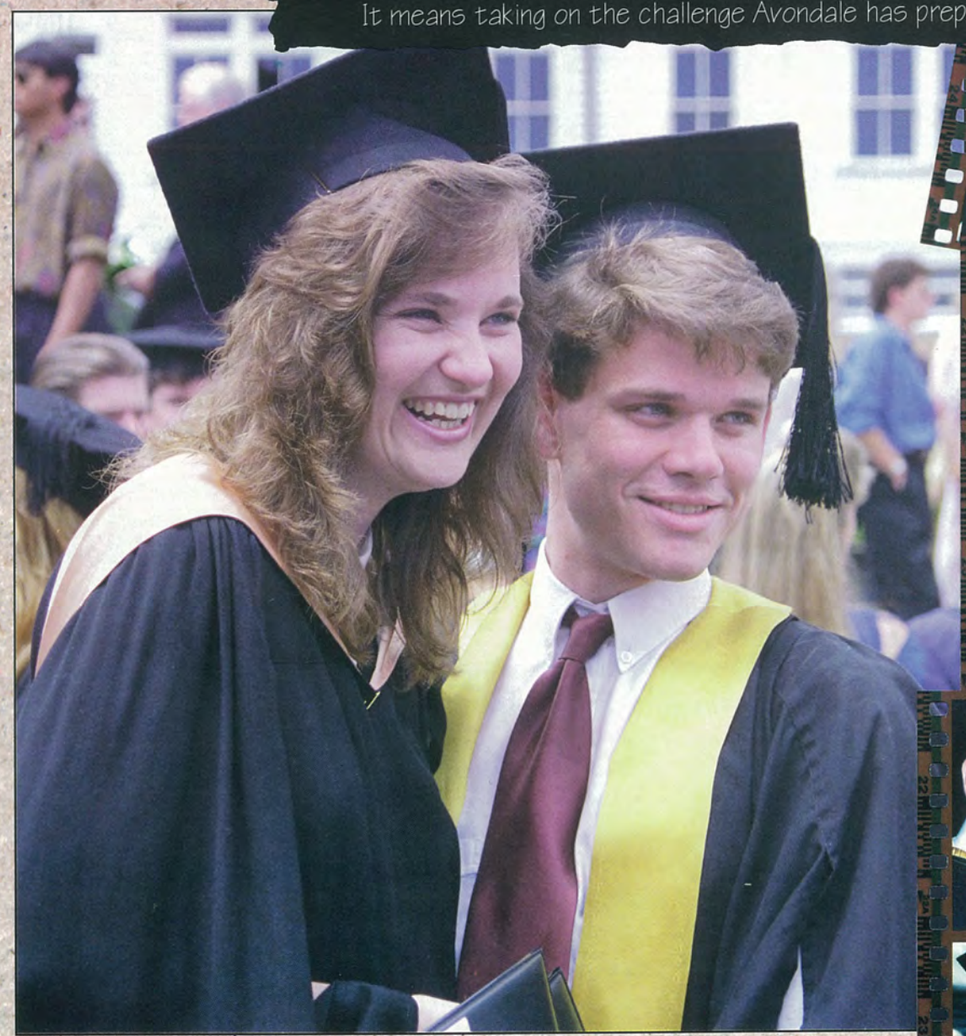
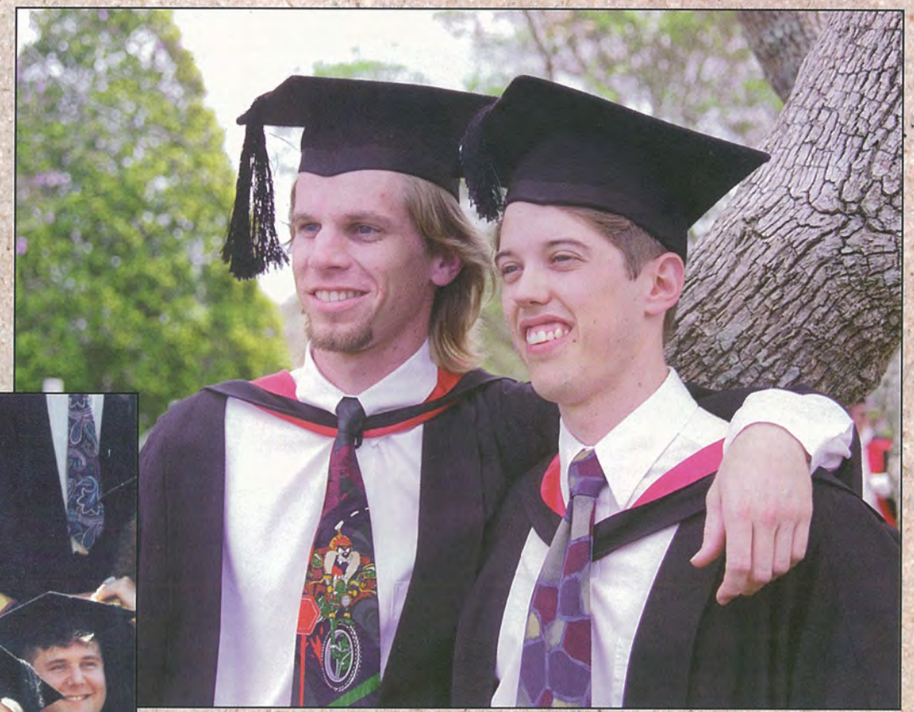
(4th Year Student)

Graduation

What does it mean to graduate?
It is a celebration of goals attained.
It is the culmination of years of work.
It is a refelction of time spent at Avondale.
It is a stepping stone in life.
It is a time for looking at future possibilities.
It means moving away from friends.
It means taking on the challenge Avondale has prepared us for.

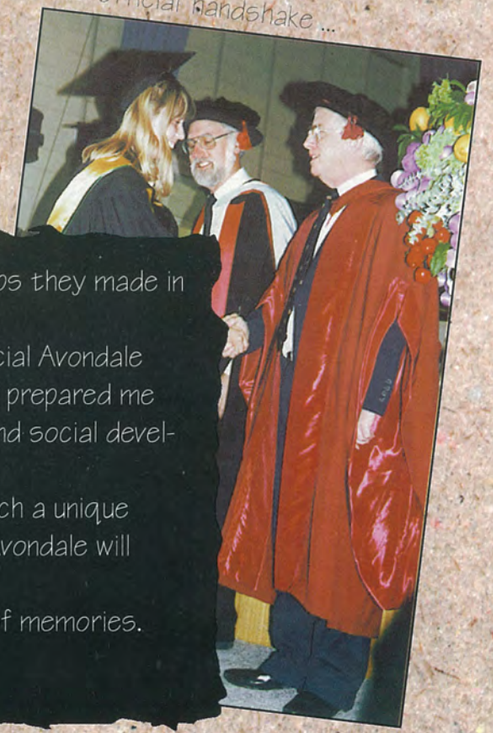




Paul & Jester

many faces of grad.

The 'official' handshake ...



Like footprints in the sand, one can reflect on the steps they made in their life journey.
Looking back on my time at Avondale, I realise how special Avondale has been in shaping my future direction. It has not only prepared me for a fulfilling career, but it has also allowed spiritual and social development.
It has been the people at College that have made it such a unique place, and the memories of times spent together at Avondale will always remain.
But time spent at Avondale is more than a collection of memories. Rather, it is a step towards your future.

Portraits

Avondale. We think we know it all but in reality we know a tiny part. We hope what we do (as staff & students) is at the hub of things but we are a small part of a complex whole. Take a walk around campus, explore the alley, the door, or the building you pass without enquiry. Interest and surprise awaits us on our detour. Perhaps a 'gem' to be discovered or a secret revealed. What is Avondale like? Only you know. Only you can find out.

Thinking of comments to write in your friends Jacaranda is always challenging - what will I write this year. It becomes even harder when someone you do not know so well asks you to autograph their Jac. To make things easier here's a list of the most commonly used Jacranda autographs - perhaps you could use these ideas or even sign your name and footnote to this page.

1. Good getting to know you this year (always safe)
2. Have a good break (can be combined with 1 for more effect)
3. Thanks for being a friend this year (nice)
4. I have enjoyed being your friend this year, see-ya next year. (always works really well)
5. You're a unique person (not sure what you think)
6. All the best for the future (good way to finish)
7. Have a happy Christmas (last resort)

For extra effect, use all 7 at once.

If a photo of you is not in the Jac then paste one here.

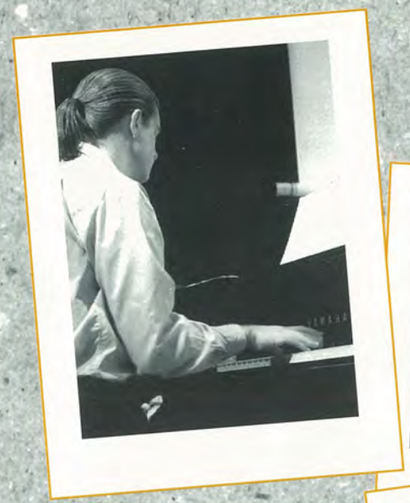
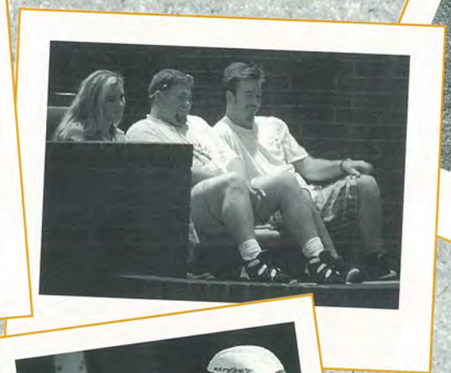
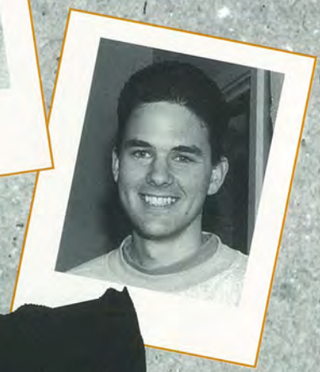
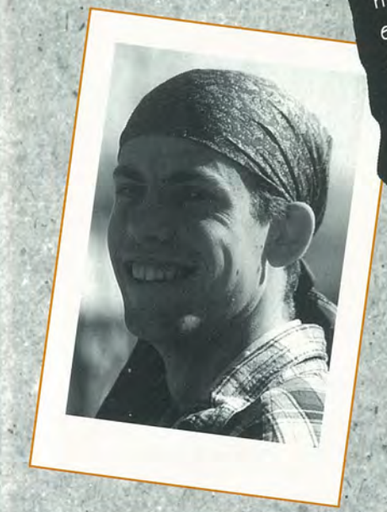
... This Is Now

Write your own captions that capture the spirit of today...









As society has changed so has Avondale. Today, young ladies are no longer taught dishwashing, cooking and housekeeping. By and large they share the same classes and occupations as do their male classmates. In order to provide the specialization needed, the College has become a true tertiary teaching institution, and the academic curricula of the College has become more demanding of the students at the expense of other aspects of the program.

With change comes the searching question of authenticity. Has the College changed so much now as to lose connection with its authentic roots, with its essential mission? As it looks to the future, Avondale must continually struggle to find how its basic perspective that education is the training of every part of the being - physical, mental and moral - should express itself in the curriculum and the environment of study which is set up. Time must be allocated, and creative energy must be directed toward providing at Avondale a spiritual environment which places the Bible at the centre of the curriculum, and which stresses the wholeness of the individual - social, physical, mental and spiritual. This is not an easy task in today's complex world. But then, the letters and writings of the early pioneers of Avondale show that they did not find the task easy, either.

I oncw saw the perfect sunset
a mirage of pinks and blue and so I opened up these pages
to find a memory of you

In my sleepy mind's eye
I replayed those moving motions
of chocolate and stress, late night and tests,
friendships, loyalties and devotions.

As the evening light faded
the pink merged to blue and I closed up these pages - satisfied
I had not forgotten you.

Fifty Years of Jacaranda.

Happy 50th Birthday Jacaranda! For 50 years Jacaranda has been recording the faces and places that make up Avondale. Things have changed for Avondale in that time and things have changed for Jacaranda. The 1945 Jacaranda was largely a graduation souvenir - over its fifty years it has continually grown larger to become the hardcover yearbook that it is today.

The changing face of technology is also reflected in the Jacaranda. In 1945 layouts, graphics and all cutting and pasting was done by hand. Fifty years on Jacaranda is made entirely on computer. The 1945 team would never have dreamed of computer programs such as Pagemaker or Photoshop and taking the publication to the printers on a hard drive. Things have changed - however Jacaranda continues to be the photo album of Avondale.

1995 marks a new phase in the production of Jacaranda - for the first time all pre-press work has been completed at Avondale. In other years photo scanning and computer graphic layout has been done by outside companies at considerable cost. In 1995 College purchased the equipment required to complete the Jacaranda here, at College. This has meant a lot of experimenting and learning, making mistakes and trying again, realising that there is a lot of work in getting it right. It has meant many late nights working out just how everything works - in some cases we're still working it out. In the end it has meant that the Jacaranda can be produced with more photos at a much smaller cost than has been possible in the past.

Also new in 1995 is the Jac Video. The book in motion. Taking the concept of Jacaranda one step further to literally create moving memories. All video editing has been completed at Avondale.

Tertiary Education?

Avondale College has a reputation for producing quality graduates. This is no accident. It is the result of a well qualified faculty, and an abundance of enthusiastic and gifted students.

So, what can you expect to happen when so many dedicated people get together on one campus? It's a creatively charged experience! Which makes Avondale College a most attractive learning environment for the Christian tertiary student.
