Some people go through life holding up 'signs', saying who they are and what they've done. Others walk quietly, making big changes in small ways, leaving behind a legacy.

Mrs Dick has the unique ability to embrace those she meets with her warmth, laughter, compassion, friendliness and love.

To me, she is a mother away from home, but more importantly a friend, who without many people knowing, fights quietly for those within her care.

Mrs Dick feels deeply, loves completely and helps unconditionally. My life has been blessed and enriched because of her kind heart and soul.

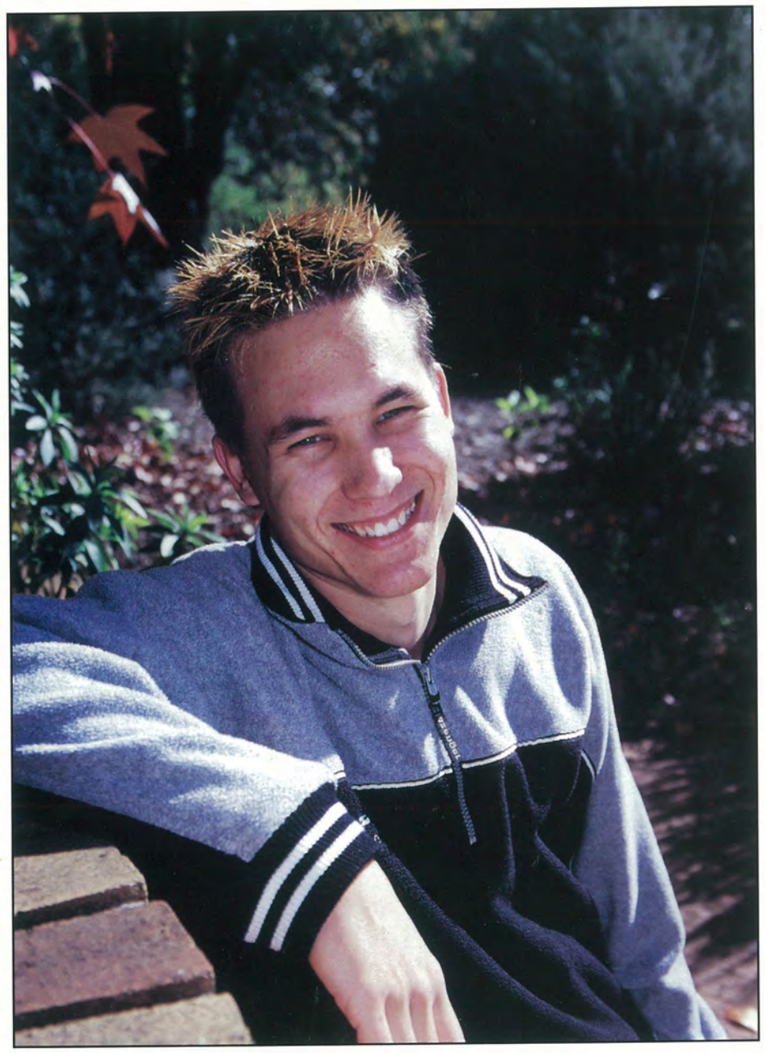
In Memory of...



5 July 1980 - 15 September 2000

Justin Wayne Cassie

The laughter from your soul...
The passion that shone from your eyes...
The enthusiasm you radiated...
The contentment that spilled from your heart.

Memories and moments in time...

We, your friends, were blessed by your sweet presence,
And this encourages us to remain strong;
until that glorious morning when we are caught up in the clouds of angels...

until eternity.

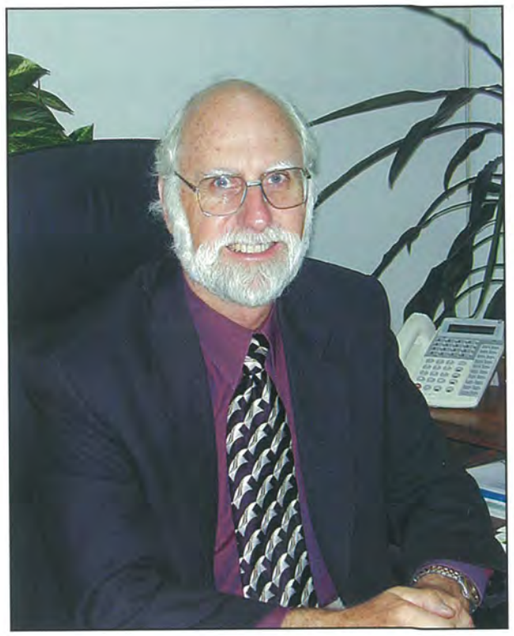
President's Address



Life's journey is defined by the Christ-encounter. The reaction of Auden's wise men was, "O here and now our endless journey stops", but for his shepherds, "O here and now our endless journey starts". Philip Yancey, commenting on the poem, noted that "the search for worldly wisdom has ended: true life has just begun". Saul was on a persecuting journey to Damascus when a "light from heaven flashed around him". That Christ-encounter changed his name, gave him new purpose, and launched him on journeys of incalculable significance.

Avondale's role in life's journey is twofold. First, it is to ensure that in its classrooms, residence halls and worship services an encounter with Christ is encouraged. It is not sufficient to encounter a body of knowledge and doctrine, a healthy lifestyle, or the carefully crafted programs of a church - important as they might be. Daily we need to be reminded that Christ is "the way".

Second, it is Avondale's task to enhance the quality of our journey. It does this by providing skills and experiences that prepare us for the journey. It clarifies the nature of the journey so that unnecessary baggage can be left behind. It gives us the knowledge of the experience of others so that we gain from their insights and learn from their mistakes. Avondale will succeed only as it is able to reflect the grace of God, for any journey that depends on our strength will fail.

The exciting thing about the journey on which "true life" will take us is its variety. God has a wide range of options for service and Avondale signposts the direction to many of these. While Avondale's graduates will serve God and their communities in many ways and in countless places, it is Avondale's prayer that their journeys will all converge at that "narrow gate" that leads to eternal life.

Editorial

Life is an amazing and unique gift.

Despite this fact, we often become too engrossed in our daily existence to acknowledge that there is more to this life than reaching one's ultimate destination; whether it be Graduation, travelling the world, or starting a family...

During the quiet moments our awareness is increased, that while these things are important, so too is each individual journey in between.

A shared smile, the creation of memories, the achievement of a personal challenge. For it is these minute-by-minute encounters that take and mould us into the people we are each day.

Within the pages of Jacaranda 2000 we have attempted to capture the inspiration, passion, ambition, adrenalin, celebration and hindsight that each of us possesses.

It is hoped that these moments and encounters will strengthen and encourage us, with the knowledge that while we may each take a different path through life, our journeys will one day bring us together again at the 'ultimate destination'.

Each year I've watched Graduation loom in the shadows of the jacaranda trees, and waited impatiently for the sun to turn them purple. I've watched the flowers fall, be blown away, then grow again.

Here at Avondale our passions grow, our worlds collide, joy merges with pain - and the years pass us by. Here young souls are grown in bondage to the invisible, quenched in knowledge and a deeper experience. God moves between the faces, His presence found in many places. These experiences are more than just here and now. They are eternal.

I don't need a lot of things, I can get by with nothing
Of all the blessings life can bring, I've always needed something
But I've got all I want, When it comes to loving You
You're my only reason, You're my only truth

You're the hope that moves me, To courage again
You're the love that rescues me, When the cold winds rage
And it's so amazing, 'Cause that's just how You are
And I can't turn back now, Cause You've brought me too far

I need You like water
Like breath, like rain
I need You like mercy
From Heaven's gate
There's a freedom in Your arms
That carries me through
I need You

What is 'service'?

Is it planning and digging flood irrigation trenches for community gardens in Mongolia, and tasting bizarre culinary 'delights' in far away countries?

Could it be living on the bottom floor of Watson Hall and being awakened at all hours by fellow 'dorm denizens' who've misplaced their access card and need to be let in?

Or maybe it's as easy as offering to do the traditional midnight Bi-Lo run, knowing you're going to stay up till 4:00 am as a result.

Service with a smile

Laughter is easier minute by minute, spilled with the sounds of light dancing against delightfully decorated walls. The sight of glistening faces blends with the scent of autumn jazz. And the taste of delight soaks our lips.

At the end of the evening we lick the flavour from our lips knowing this night will never be repeated. For it is only once in a lifetime that we can laugh easily, because in that one moment we have entertained, been engrossed by and reached out our hand to someone else.

In 2000 Avondale College celebrated to raise $2916 in support of the Southlakes Womens Refuge.

This same year Avondale College hopes to make someone else smile a little easier, minute by minute.

Sight-seeing

There must be a reason why returning students smile at memories of their first year.

It isn't just the never-ending drive for any form of fun,the Swing Bridge jumping, the random midnight missions, or the Telstra Tower climbing.

Instead, it is the comforting knowledge that despite your guilt-free, non-study habits you have another three years to achieve your distant academic goals.

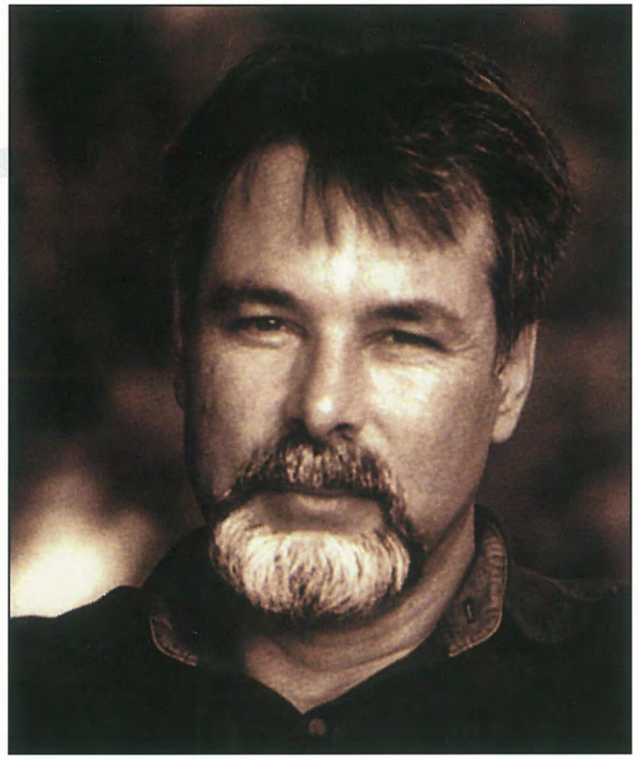
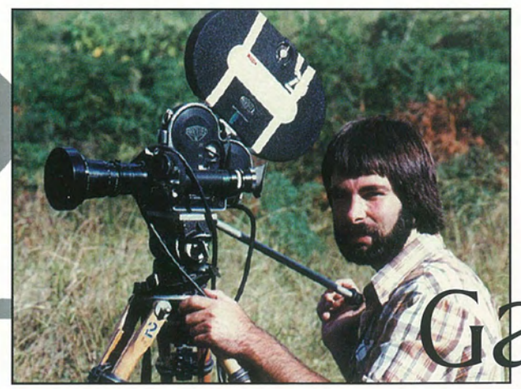
A tribute to...



8 July 1953 - 28 September 2000

Gabe had an incredible influence on the students he lectured at Avondale College.

Gabe's passion for the work he undertook was evident in his excitement at making a story 'come to life' on video, and his belief in our best qualities.



We respected Gabe for what he taught us, about loving and focussing on what was important in life.

Avondale College and his students will miss him dearly.

To laugh often and much; to win the respect of intelligent people and the affection of children; to earn the appreciation of honest critics and endure the betrayal of false friends; to appreciate beauty; to find the best in others; to leave the world a bit better, whether by a healthy child, a garden patch or a redeemed social condition; to know even one life has breathed easier because you have lived.
