Geoffrey Madigan

The phone call was quite specific: write about Geoffrey Madigan as Avondale College President. That was all. No mention of Madigan the scientist, master of a thousand titrations; Madigan the romantic, the suitor who had single-handedly wooed, won and wed the fair Donna Sommerfield; Madigan the sportsman, fiery fast bowler, skilled tennis player and intrepid yachtsman; or even Madigan the College lecturer, my close personal friend of many years. These and other aspects of the man were to be ignored.

So what manner of man was the administrative Madigan, longest-serving of all Avondale College Principals/Presidents? Obviously, a man of enormous competence, unquestionable integrity, and total loyalty both to his superiors and to those who served under him. But the man I recall with the greatest clarity and delight was the man of wit and wisdom, warm personality, quick insight, deep compassion, and superb insult (the latter reserved exclusively for his friends).

Soon after his appointment to the Presidency, I was asked to introduce this man to the student body in Chapel. As part of my preparation for this responsibility, I decided to interview him, hoping to discover what he wanted me to say. My notes of that interview reveal, perhaps more clearly than anything else I could write, something of Geoff's characteristic efficiency, his laconic and incisive sense of humour, and also his incredible ability to give close associates a hard time.

Glen, grandaughter Leah, daughter Nicole, Sarah, son Carl, Donna and Geoff

Do you wish me to introduce you at length?
No.

What would you like me to say?
As little as possible.

What was your reaction when asked to be President?
Why me?

Do you like being President?
It is better than being unemployed.

What do you like most about being President?
I am given my own newspapers each day (which I have no time to read).

What do you like least?
Having to answer trivial questions asked by staff members with too little to do.

What great thoughts are currently uppermost in your mind?
I am repenting having let you into my office. So clear off because I have important work to do.

I have worked under four Principals/Presidents of Avondale College, and each of these men commands my full respect. But in many ways Dr Geoffrey Madigan is plainly unique. Avondale College is unquestionably the poorer for his departure. And his enlightened leadership and unfailing good humour will be greatly missed.

Editorial

Before I launch into the infamous rantings and ravings of a good editorial, I would like to thank my team - for their support, and most of all, their frivolity.

Thanks also to Andrea Steele for pre-viewing;
Boris Ambrus for the muffin;
Keira Bullock for her Bible; and Alan Newbold, Tiffany Mortenson and Jim Zenith
for their love towards their camera's.

Thanks also to all the contributors of photographs,
memories shared are more fun indeed.

We are all on our journey and are fortunate enough to be making pitt stops with each other.
Some stay longer, trying to pick the next chocolate for the trip, while others fly past.

What we have tried to convey this year is making this experience your own.
Taking life on board and owning life.
Life is about playing, learning, serving seeking and most of all,
life is about living.

I wish to leave on a note of light humour
yet great wisdom from Bill Cosby:

I don't know the key to success,
but the key to failure
is trying to please everybody.

It takes a minute to find a special person,
an hour to appreciate them,
a day to love them,
but an entire life to forget them.

Thankyou jo - for being more than a lecturer, more than a friend, more than a mentor. For being more.
Thankyou that you had enough time to leave your legacy in our hearts and souls.
I pray that we can achieve the greatness that you believed was inside each and every one of us.

Welcome to our world

Creata is an international promotional marketing agency. Our focus for more than 25 years has been to create unique and innovative promotional items, enhance brand strategy and achieve market penetration in an increasingly competitive business environment. Known internationally as the designer, producer and distributor of McDonalds Happy Meal toys, Creata has grown to be much more than this. We now boast as many as 30 leading business partnerships, with our products and services crossing over more than 140 countries. We are truly global having 15 offices in 13 countries, and employing in excess of 400 business, marketing and design professionals.

What makes us different? The answer is simple - our people. We can genuinely say people are our most important asset, simply because they are our only asset. Our expertise and competitive qualities as a business rest in the minds and motivations of our people. We consequently take seriously our people, our investment in them, and whom we ask to join us. Throughout the years, Avondale College has provided us with exceptional business and professional talent and continues to do so. Our business has been successful because of it. For this reason, our doors remain open to discuss career opportunities with any Avondale graduate in the disciplines of Accounting, Marketing, Graphic Design, Desktop publishing, Executive support/assistants, Information Technology and Human Resources.
