foreword

In a world of fragmented social values, Avondale College stands apart, offering young people an environment in which to develop the mature Christian graces. While so many other institutions of higher learning have felt the impact of revolt, riot and demonstration, Avondale College presents a body of young men and women united in their purpose of Christian fulfilment.

This, the 1968 "Jacaranda," produced by students for students, primarily pictures college life in its social aspects. We have attempted to show that, despite the tight schedule of a tertiary institution, life can be happy, carefree, and relaxed.

Believing as we do that "reverence for the Lord is a fountain of life" and that "the godly man's life is exciting," we decided to picture the joy and excitement of being young, and of being a Christian, in this intensely exciting age. Catch our spirit of enthusiasm and devotion and our work will not have been in vain.

another generation cometh

"as the generations of leaves . . . so are the generations of men" in the world you can see the jaded, faded leaves of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil . . . a generation of leaves of people being blown away in time's autumn . . .
at avondale you find the for ever spring leaves of the tree of life . . . fresh, pulsating and shining . . .

detached from the forest of secular existence . . .
bursting out here at college on the tree of dedicated existence . . .

editorial: a college and its people

we tried to divide the activities done at avondale into neat sections, into clear cut categories
but people overflowed
the things they do wouldn't fit into "sections" . . .
so our "jacaranda" became chaotic . . . yes
confused . . . excited . . . tender . . . yes
relaxing . . . on the move, working, studying, playing . . . yes
but that's people
this year you may find some of the pictures in "jacaranda" a bit blurred . . . they may look as though they were taken in a hurry . . .
but have you ever tried to photograph people
at the dizzy height of happiness
or in the loneliness of homesickness
or tired out from study
or laughing
or crying!
this is what college is like . . .
we are people
real
alive
vibrant

JOHN GATE

Graduation 1968 and the ministry
"Only to be what He wills, where He sends," says John. John would like to be an evangelist. But the ministry for him is yet only great expectations. Next year he will probably work with an experienced evangelist, and perhaps concentrate on youth evangelism which holds special interest for him.
Life is a challenge, college a greater one, but the ministry John knows to be the ultimate in challenge, and in satisfaction.

ROBYN PRIESTLEY

Robyn in contemplating her future, is very conscious of the truth of the words "This work is the nicest, the most difficult, ever committed to human beings."

Teaching for her means the joy of "getting something over."

It means making learning exciting, a privilege.

It means being humble when faced with the vast expanse of knowledge.

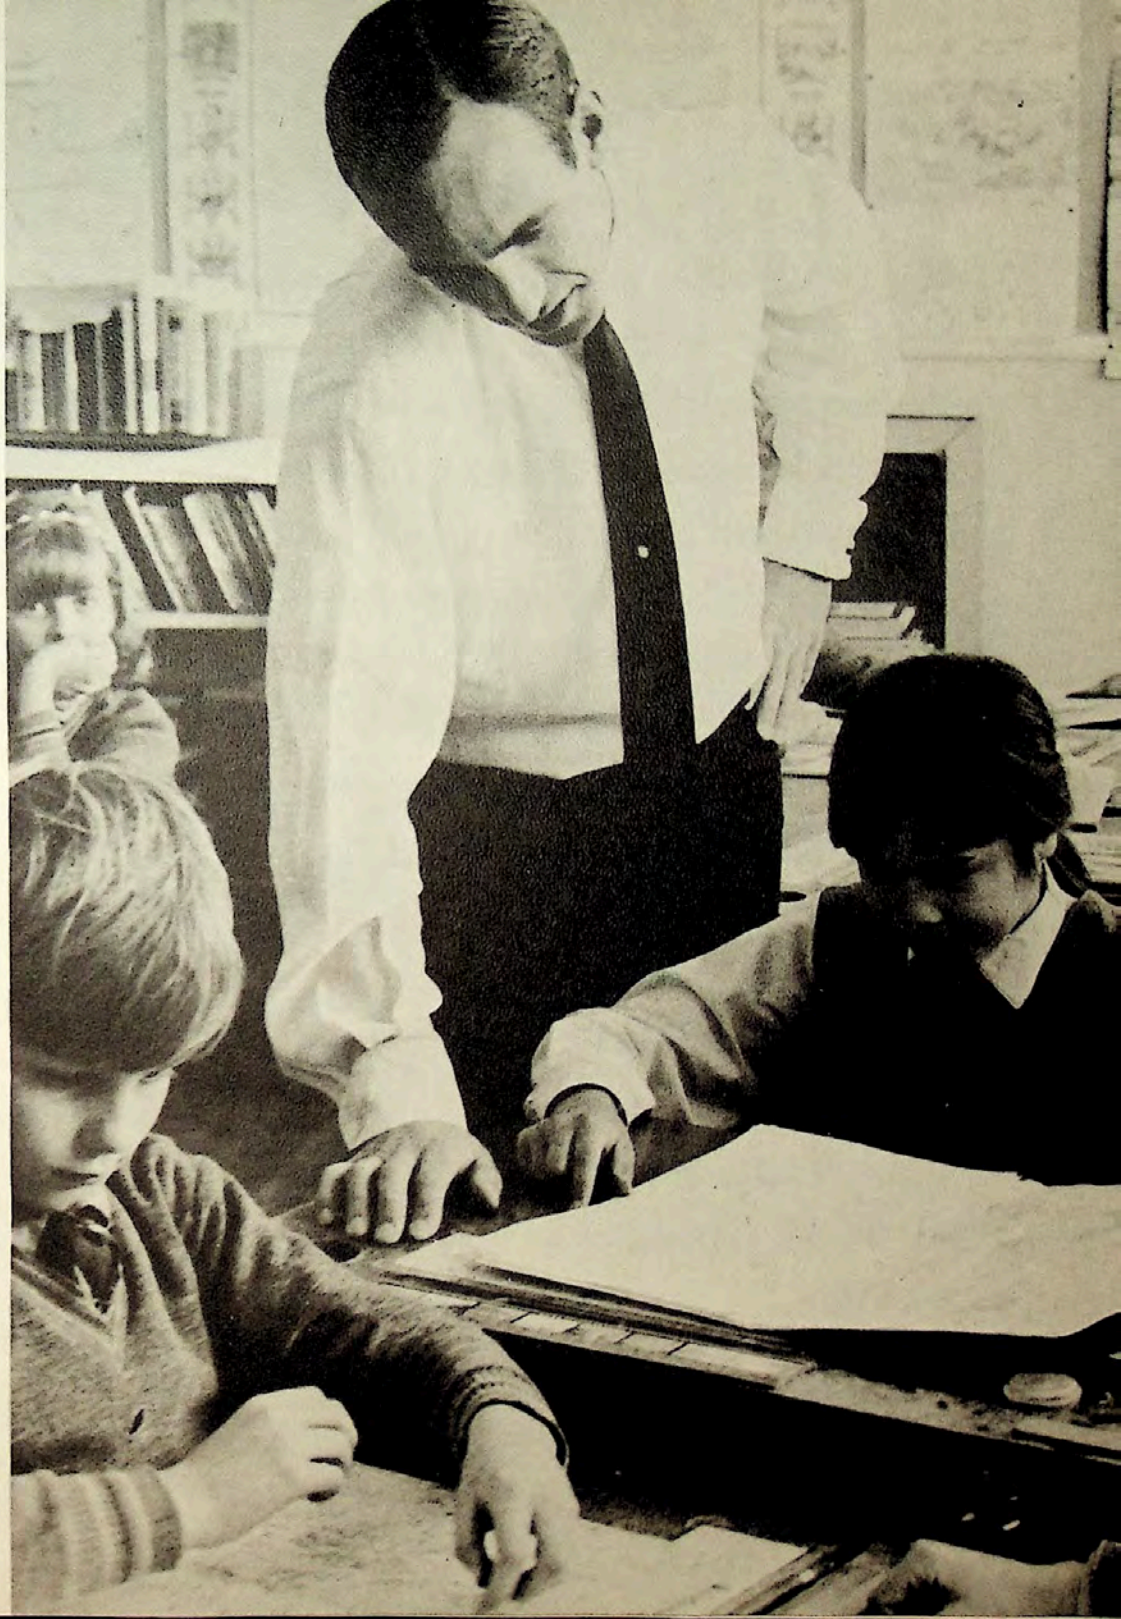

It means developing tolerance, consistency.

It is the finest, the most sobering, the most challenging of occupations for Robyn, and she looks forward to her first appointment.

GRAHAM BARNETT

With an intermediate certificate, Graham left school and worked for three years. The futility of this life, and the vision of a higher one called him to college, to matriculate, and later to graduate as a teacher. Three things impress Graham about his forthcoming work. One is the fact that now it is "the real thing." No longer is there a critic sitting in the corner. Now he can develop as an individual and a leader. He sees in his career a weighty responsibility. He sees the question looming, "Where is thy flock, thy beautiful flock?" But above all, he sees in teaching the challenge of evangelism, but from a new and exciting angle.

KAY KRANZ

After graduation Kay will be going home in one sense; home to London where she spent her childhood. She is hoping to work in the office of the Northern European Division at St. Albans. Kay has always wanted to travel and she saw in the secretarial course a chance to do this — a chance to be well qualified yet not involved in a long course.

She would like to be a private secretary, a position with scope for initiative and individuality.

Kay sees great potential for good in a secretarial position whether in or out of the work of the church. If a secretary were a Christian, she would certainly be noticed — provided with first class prospects for witness in word and life.

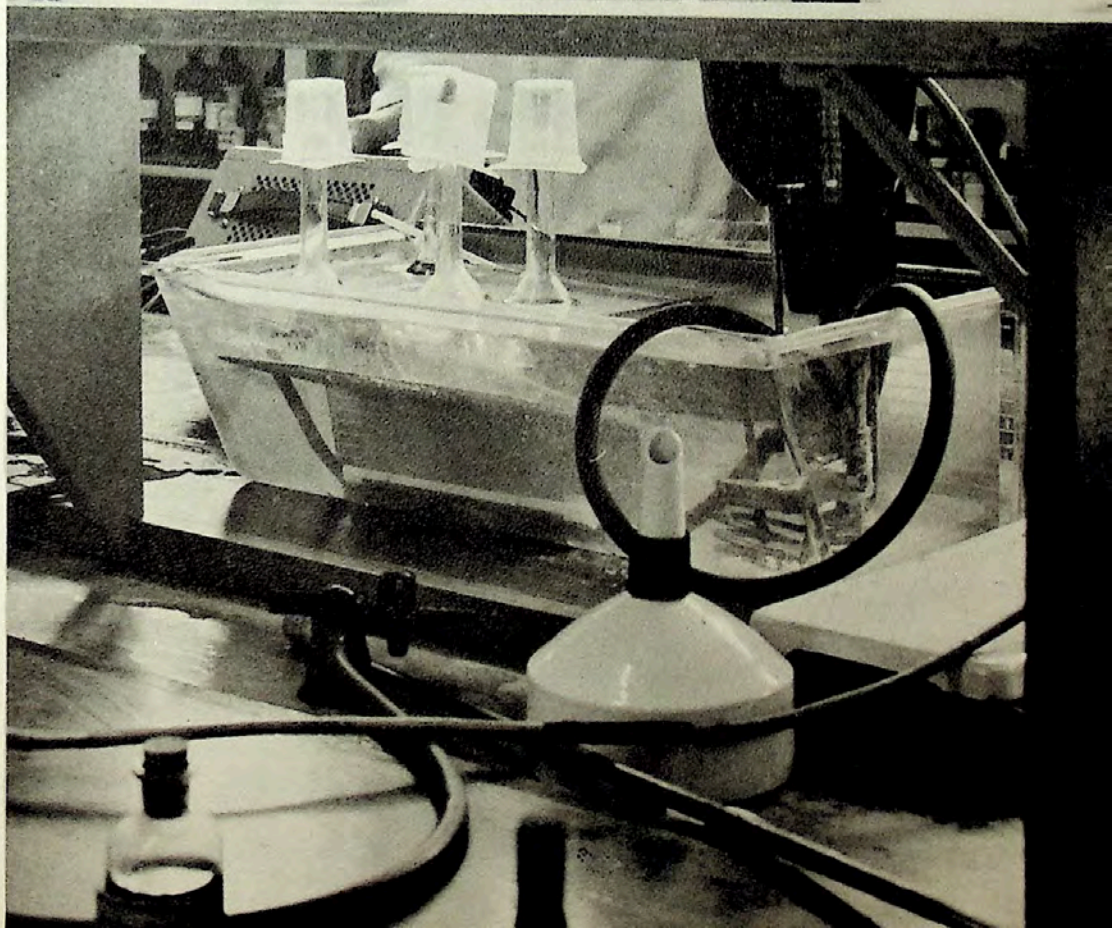

ROY HOLLINGSWORTH

This year after four years of hard study Roy graduates from the B.Sc. (London) degree and Science Teaching Diploma.

Roy would look forward to a very successful career as a research scientist. But the impersonal laboratory is not for him. Roy feels the challenge of people. He will not earn as much money teaching in a church school but he will have the great reward of pointing young people to the Great Scientist who made the heavens and the earth.

Meet our two-miles-a-minute Technician!

The pilot you see with our Cessna 172 is Kingsley Hurst. His job is to maintain NCR business machines in South-Western Queensland. The reason we equipped Kingsley with an aircraft instead of a van is so that he can attend to service calls in a fraction of the time required by road in this wide area. . . . at two-miles-a-minute in fact.

Good technical service has always been an essential part of NCR operational plans . . . because no machine is better than the technical facilities behind it. The result today is Australia-wide coverage through more than 70 NCR Centres . . . with over 600 technicians operating from them.

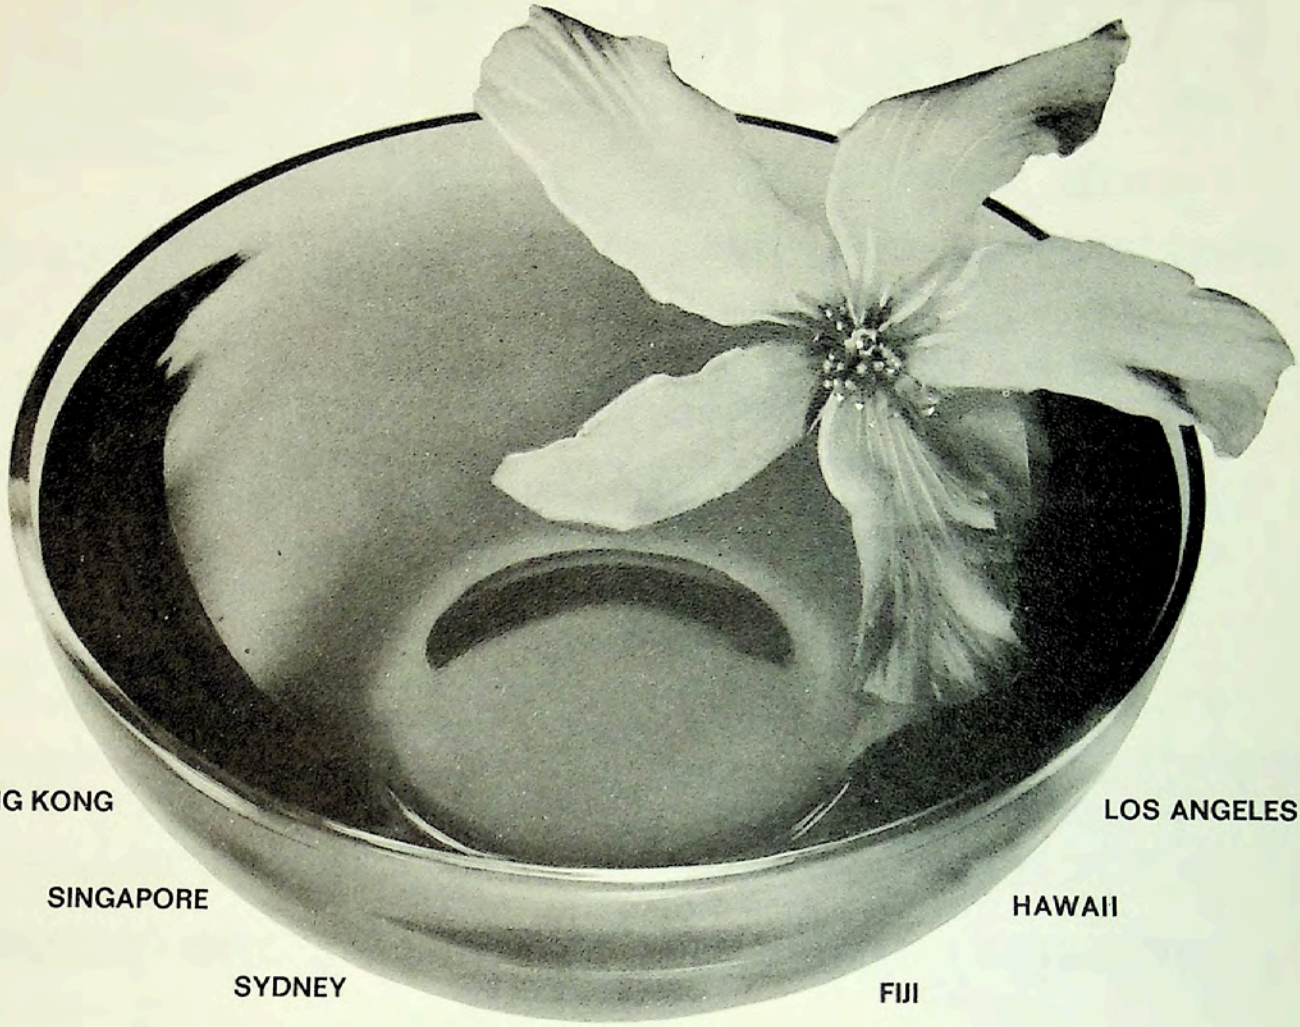

You'll find the same progressive thought applied to all NCR products . . . because at NCR, we're living by the creed that we must do better than competition to grow . . . and NCR is growing, fast! Whatever you're choosing—computer, cash register, accounting machine or adding machine—there's a model to suit your needs. Just call the NCR office nearest you, or write to NCR, Box 2626, G.P.O., Sydney 2001.

The whole Pacific is our dish . . . Let's make it yours!

NOW—AIR NEW ZEALAND LINKS THE EAST WITH THE U.S.A. VIA THE SOUTH PACIFIC

The Pacific's wide blue bowl is home-territory to AIR NEW ZEALAND. Now you can fly all round it by new long-range DC-8s, perfect version of the world's most preferred jetliners. New accents on comfort and quietness. And a bright new concept: Five Star Jetline Service, dedicated to you. Five Star? Food and wines you'd rate outstanding anywhere. And quietly thoughtful attention all the way.
AIR NEW ZEALAND, the airline that goes to more trouble to make your flight a great pleasure.

There actually is a high-precision watch especially designed for riding, diving, roughing it. Its name: Omega Seamaster. The remarkable thing about the self-winding Seamaster—it's as handsome as it is rugged. A famous, highly accurate timepiece, of course, fully in keeping with our policy of serving a demanding clientele with watches of outstanding, enduring quality.

Ω

Self-winding model in 18 ct. gold, £155; 14 ct. gold capped, £72; stainless steel, £58. Other models for men and women from £27.

Can you measure health in dollars and cents?
Never. But it's comforting to know that the best health breakfast is the best breakfast value, too. Weet-Bix. The only one with the whole grain goodness of natural wheat. A generous serving of Weet-Bix costs about a cent and a half. Just compare that with the cost of any other family breakfast. Isn't it refreshing to find good health and good value in the same packet?
