A time to Remember

AVONDALE COLLEGE LIBRARY

104550

DR. G. Madigan

The pace of existence is breathtaking as modern life competes for our time at every turn. The urgent crowds out the important. The exciting displaces the essential. It is Avondale's intention to provide time for many worthwhile pursuits: worship, study, reflection, fun, recreation and service. The opportunities are limited only by the interests of the students and staff. Each one of us must make a deliberate decision to use our time for the best things.

Relationships are important and require time for their development; not just any time, but quality time when it is possible to get to know others, their thoughts, their opinions, their likes and dislikes. The same concept of quality time applies as we develop a relationship with God.

Developing the mind requires time; time in class, with our textbooks, and in testing the strength of our ideas in discussion with others. Haste and superficiality are constant companions. Maturity of thought cannot be hurried: time must be invested.

Health is important to us all, but its maintenance is not automatic. It requires time in eating properly, in obtaining sufficient sleep, and in healthy exercise.

There is time at Avondale for all these things. Because they took the necessary time for the important things, many of our former students look back on their stay at Avondale as the best time in their lives. I would encourage present students to make the most of their time at Avondale, and recommend to all young people that they consider making some time for Avondale in their plans.

There is a time for everything
and
a season for every activity under heaven . . .

... a time to honour ...

In 1979, Dr Gorle quietly entered the lives of those at Avondale. Since then, he has devoted many hours of his time in conscientious work, first as registrar, and then as academic dean. Now, as assistant principal, Dr Gorle's dedication to the students and staff of Avondale has taught us the meaning of commitment to excellence. Commitment that takes persistence, and, above all, commitment that takes time.

The quality of a person's life is in direct proportion to their committment to excellence, regardless of their chosen field of endeavour.

V. T. Lombardi.

... a time to plant ...

Daphne Were . . . to a gracious lady, a good friend, a loyal Christian, and one who lived her life as a loyal worker fully committed to her God . . . to one who served for 35 years at Avondale College . . . to one who has been greatly loved by the staff and generations of students at Avondale . . . Farewell until the morning.

Daphne Were
1927 - 1992

Bible training school, St Kilda Road, Melbourne, 1892 . . . the forerunner of Avondale.

This - all this - was in the olden time . . . long ago

... a time to tear down
and
a time to restore ...

If these walls could speak
Of the secrets that they keep,
Of stories new and old,
Of the memories they hold . . .

... a time to share ...

We need times together and times alone, to know each other and to know ourselves.

We are His people and the sheep of His pasture.

... a time to follow ...

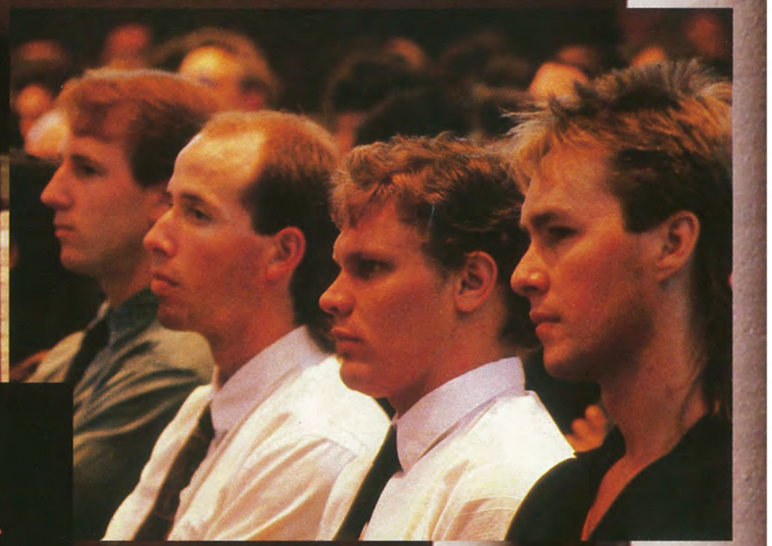

Murray House and Steve Wold

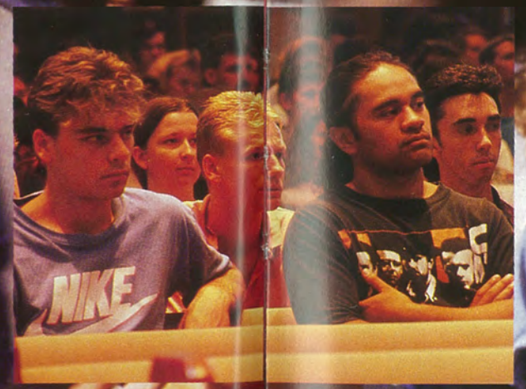

"Take up the cross and follow me."
Mark 10:21

... a time to serve ...

"It's a lonely Friday evening in South West Africa. The last rays of sunlight linger yet above the distant horizon . . ."

Bradley Watson

"... Since we have been in Korea, we have been taught a lot about the Korean culture and way of life. In turn, we have also taught many Korean culture and Australian students about how to speak English, and, most importantly, about Jesus... One of the most incredible experiences of life in Korea is seeing how God can change peoples lives. We only last weekend had a baptism at a nearby reserve. We are very thankful that we made the decision to come to Korea, because it has really made God alive in our lives. May God bless,

Your friends

The Spirit of Avondale . . .

Hear the measured thump of the ancient drum,
Like the marching beat of Barbarian horde;
The mingled thud of a thousand hearts
Beating to the rhythm of the march of time.

Feel the silent hum of the wings of thought,
Like the questing roots of a growing tree;
The endless search of a thousand minds
For the keys of knowledge and the strength of skill.

See the living power of the outstretched hearts,
The measured pulse of the anthem song;
Harmonic strains of corporate voice
Joining with the heavens in the praise of God.

Reach out to touch another's life,
For in love is found the key to hope;
Give to another the power to live
With the joy of knowing there are those who care.

Catch a fleeting glimpse of the distant goal,
Like a beacon's call across the rolling seas;
See them striving to reach it, the desire for the star,
And a will to achieve in the service of God.

The joy of life, the love of friend;
The storm of thought, the scratch of pen;
The gift from the students at Avondale
Is the spirit of a college that will live on and on.

Kevin Thoresen.

. . . a time to share . . .

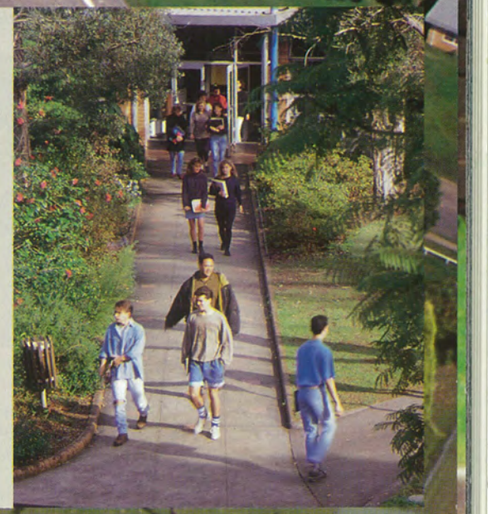

I count myself in nothing else so happy as in a soul, remembering my good friends.
W.Shakespeare.

. . . a time to enjoy . . .

... a time to endure ...

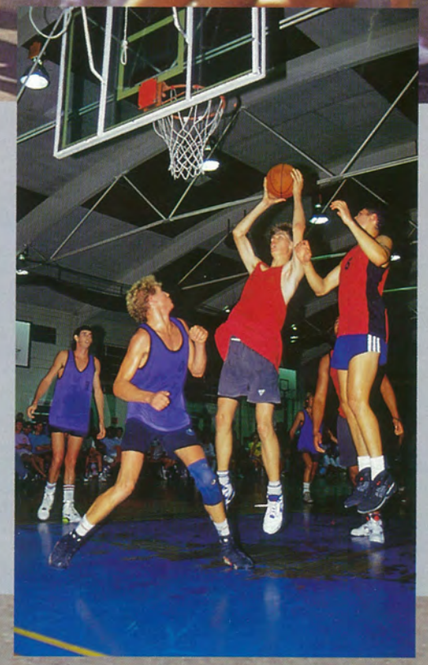

In a race, all the runners run, but only one gets the prize . . .
1 Corinthians 9:24

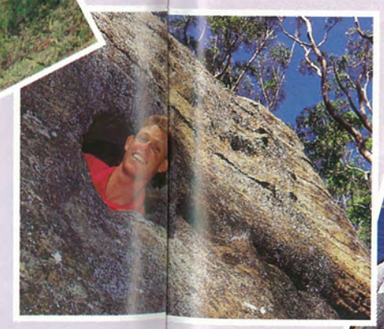

Great, wide, beautiful, wonderful world,
With the wonderful water round you curled,
And the wonderful grass upon your breast -
World, you are beautifully dressed!

SANITARIUM

In those early days the marketing was direct. It consisted of three "littles". A "little" group of enthusiasts, "little" marketing experience and even less money to finance the operation. However, the future looked bright. In spite of many setbacks the demand increased. A review of the whole situation in late 1898 strongly suggested that a move to larger premises should take place, and indeed, a total relocation happened almost at once, as an opportunity appeared that seemed too good to miss. The new premises were located at Cooranbong, a rural property south of Newcastle in Central New South Wales. Production commenced later that year. After a period of uncertainty, the company grew and expanded until today, it has manufacturing plants in all states of Australia, in both Islands of New Zealand.

The early factory at Cooranbong has now grown to become one of the largest cereal production plants in the Southern Hemisphere. Many of the other factories, located in the various capital cities of each state of Australia, have been operating for well over 50 years. Others, like the Castle Hill complex in Sydney, are relatively new.

Sanitarium's commitment to both the consumer and the community is the key to its long standing reputation for friendliness, honesty and a service centred approach to the industry. The respect that the name Sanitarium generates in both the consumer and the corporate mind is something to be valued.

SYDNEY ADVENTIST HOSPITAL

Sydney Adventist Hospital is licensed by the New South Wales Department of Health for 329 beds — making it the largest private hospital in New South Wales. It offers acute surgical, medical and obstetric care including complex cardiac and orthopaedic procedures. Sophisticated support services are available on-site.

It was the first private hospital in NSW to be accredited by the Australian Council on Healthcare Standards and has maintained its accreditation continuously. The 1,400 staff have the privilege of caring for more than 20,000 in-patients and 100,000 out-patients annually. Out-patient services include Physiotherapy, Pathology, X-ray, Radiation Oncology, Nuclear Medicine, and a family medical practice.

THEY CHOSE DENOMINATIONAL SERVICE

Karen Chilcott graduated with a Bachelor of Education degree in 1990, and now teaches at Sydney Adventist High School. Karen says...

"The difference in teaching in our schools comes not so much in the standard of education, but in the quality of relationships. As a Christian teacher, my first and ultimate aim is to help the students see Jesus a little clearer. Adventist Education puts no limitation on the opportunities for this to happen. As a result, my work is not just another job; it's where God wants me to be!"

Paul Geelan graduated from the Bachelor of Business course in 1990. He is now Assistant Accountant for ADRA, Adventist Alpine Village and properties in the South Pacific Division, and is studying to be a Certified Practicing Accountant.

"Being an accountant in the church system is not all about number crunching and making money, but rather it is working with a people orientated team that has a common faith and goal; and this makes the work satisfying and fulfilling."

Campbell Wilson graduated from the Bachelor of Business course in 1990. He is now an Assistant Accountant for Section II of the South Pacific Division. Campbell says...

"Denominational employment provides the opportunity of sharing in a happy and cohesive working environment. But more than that, the Church is a service industry that focuses on people, and that makes for many rewarding experiences. I'm sure you would find denominational employmentjust as challenging as I do."

Lorraine Read graduated from the Secretarial course in 1990. She is now an Assessing Clerk for ACA Medical Fund, based at the South Pacific Division. Lorraine says...

"Working for the Church has proved to be a wonderful experience for me. I enjoy my work because it provides me with a pleasant work place and the satisfaction of knowing that this is where God wants me to be. My decision to work for the Church has been a worthwhile one, and I would encourage you to be ready to accept the challenge if you hear God's call."
